Continued growth sees new role at Quadrant

Leading Tasmanian profit for members' superannuation fund, Quadrant, has announced the appointment of Stephen Thomas to the newly created position of General Manager, Fund Operations and Technology.

Stephen brings over 20 years of experience in the superannuation industry to the role, including senior management positions in operations and IT.

His most recent position as an Executive Director of Synergy Capital Management Ltd included responsibility for the management of investments administration for a $2 billion portfolio and project program management. Stephen had also previously held management roles across member account administration, client services, and IT.

Commenting on his recent appointment, Stephen said, "Quadrant's commitment to building and maintaining strong relationships with its membership and the fact that members directly benefit from the fund, rather than shareholders or financial advisers, is just one of the reasons I was drawn to the role."

Welcoming Stephen onboard, Quadrant CEO Wayne Davy said that the newly created position is to drive technology led improvement in member services along with developing scalable business systems to support the rapid growth of one of Tasmania's most successful home grown superannuation funds.

"We've experienced significant growth in membership numbers in the last five years," he said.

"Stephen's strong track record in back office administration systems, service delivery and IT will be a real asset to Quadrant and its membership as we continue to grow and ensure our members receive the best possible service to help reach their retirement goals."

Quadrant currently has more than 6700 members and over $460 million in funds under management.
